DRM Excursion to Kent
Success of trip encourages future ones

Our Museum volunteers welcomed almost 500 enthusiastic railfans early on Saturday, November 1st for the first rail excursion we have conducted in several years. Due to requests that we agree to wait for the arrival of the 9:58am Metro-North train, we departed somewhat later than originally planned, and this unfortunately reduced the time at our destination. Informational sheets and a list of Kent businesses providing discounts to ticket holders were distributed during the trip. As we enjoyed the passing scenery...

Ten Years Ago
By Stan Madyda

The newsletter ten years ago was a combined issue with January 1999 and full of interesting articles. The first page contained an article written by then Chairman of the Board Bill Guider announcing the formation of the Nominating Committee. I had the privilege to serve along with Tom McCullough and Peter Cornwall. At the time all four officer positions and all of the Board of Directors positions were to be voted on. Bill explained that our role was to seek out and recruit interested candidates for all of the positions and to certify their eligibility to run. He also supplied a brief biography on each of us.

The Monthly Restoration Report mentioned that the PRR 50 foot box car #112432 was being cleaned out to be used for much needed workshop space for the PRR N5 caboose #477099 project. Panels were to be stored inside and prepped for installation when the weather allowed. To date, three side panels, one roof panel, sub floor and two original window frames had been installed. Continuing work also included the removal of old rivets.

Another piece of equipment under restoration was the New Haven gondola #60521. The car had been used as a snowplow on the Housatonic Railroad and was donated to the DRM at the time they delivered the five Reading coaches. Some of the brake system parts needed to be replaced and quite a bit of rusted areas needed prepping. A target date for completion was the DRM at the time they delivered the five Reading coaches. Some of the brake system parts needed to be replaced and quite a bit of rusted areas needed prepping. A target date for completion was another piece of equipment under restoration.

Last Issue for Editor?

This will be the last issue of The Railyard Local which this editor can make a commitment to publish because of the lack of adequate heat in the DRM Office, where I have needed to work for prolonged periods of time. I feel I have no other choice in consideration of my health and well-being. As of the time of publication there is no resolution in sight to the continuing problems in the Office of lack of heat in winter and lack of air conditioning in summer - conditions which have persisted for more than the past two years. I will no longer attempt to endure these adverse working conditions.

It has been a privilege to create this publication for the past four years for such a unique and special museum, which is staffed entirely by volunteers. I have appreciated the article and photo contributions, feedback, and encouragement from DRM members during my tenure as editor.

Come See Us at “Big E”!

January 24 & 25th in W. Springfield, MA

Our volunteers at Danbury Railway Museum are already preparing displays, and deciding which merchandise we will be marketing at our booth at Amherst Railway Society’s immensely popular Railroad Hobby Show. Apparently last year’s expansion to include four buildings worked out so well that the same locations will be part of the show this year also. Saturday’s hours will be 9-5, Sunday’s 10-5. Daily admission will be $10.00, but children 15 and under will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult. Many railroad fans begin longing for the next year’s show as soon as the current one comes to a close! The show provides great shopping opportunities and a chance to socialize with fellow railroading enthusiasts. More info is at www.AmherstRail.org.

Amherst Railway Society has selected our Museum for very generous grants in the past. The funds for these grants are raised using proceeds from this annual train show. Our members of the Grants Committee deserve credit for submitting the grant applications so that our Museum can be considered.

Pumpkin Patch Photos

and landmarks, Pete McLachlan provided historical background and personal commentary in his colorful style. The Kent businesses, and especially Julie Butler of the Kent Caboose Gallery, went out of their way to publicize, welcome and accommodate this dramatic influx of visitors. Yes, we spied train chasers during this rare mileage excursion! Many thanks to those who provided the important feedback which will help us with future rail trips. We also appreciate the willingness of Metro-North and the Housatonic RR to work with us to make this trip a reality. Our volunteers who planned and staffed this trip were wonderful! Thank you!

Next month, we’ll continue looking at the many donations received.

was for the Spring Train Show.

The 1998 Holiday Express had an extra car added to the consist - New York Central #3, an observation car, owned by Lovett Smith, and built in 1928 by Pullman as an office car for Harold Vanderbilt.

The Galleria Train Layout crew was thanked with a reminder that members could still have a chance to view it. It opened on November 27th during the annual Tree Lighting ceremony in downtown Danbury. Led by project leader Al Mion, over 230 hours were needed to bring the layout to full operation. Also working in the layout were Gerry Herrmann, Dave McKee, Jack Wochek, John Ivansco, Stan Madyda, Al Mion, Jr., Harry Burke, Rich Tomanio and Bernie Balon.

Members were reminded that if they donate any item(s) to the Museum, they need to fill out a receipt so that the item(s) can be properly accessioned. A case in point was that a chrome plated spike hammer and a New Haven shovel were dropped off, and the Library had no idea where they came from (we eventually found out).

As I said the newsletter had quite a bit of information in it. Next month we’ll feature Geoff Knees’ Stratford point, the donation of the test weight car and a trip to Maine by several members to prepare two privately owned Alco locomotives for their move to Danbury.
